M. C. MEIGS,

QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, D. C., August 3, 1869.

GENERAL: I have the honor to submit herewith for publication (as the 24th volume of the Rolls of Honor) the record of eighteen thousand three hundred and seventy-five (18,375) graves of Union soldiers interred in the national cemeteries at Vicksburg, Mississippi, and New Albany, Indiana.

I am, general, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

ALEX. J. PERRY,
Brevet Brigadier General, and Quartermaster U. S. A.

Brevet Major General M. C. MEIGS,
Quartermaster General U. S. A., Washington, D. C.

VICKSBURG NATIONAL CEMETERY.

The Vicksburg National Cemetery is located at Vicksburg, Mississippi, a short distance above the city, covering the ground upon which stood the rebel batteries that offered most effective resistance to the passage of our gunboats past the city. The entire side-hill toward the river has been converted into terraces, and the dead have been interred from near the bank of the river to the road at the summit of the hill.

It contains forty acres, purchased at a cost of nine thousand dollars.

The site was selected and recommended by Major General T. J. Wood and Brevet Brigadier General H. M. Whittelsey, A. Q. M.

To the present date the remains of fifteen thousand five hundred and eighty Union soldiers have been interred here, of which ten thousand and twenty-seven are white, and five thousand five hundred and fifty-three colored. Of the white soldiers two-fifths are among the known, while of the colored there are but two one-hundredths known; and of the whole number interred the records show three-fourths unknown.

These dead have been gathered throughout the entire region of General Grant's campaign against Vicksburg, from Rodney, a short distance on the river below Bruinsburg—the point of landing in the crossing of the river to approach Vicksburg in the rear. On the east the search extended to Meridian, and on the north up the Yazoo, and in the interior to the district from which the dead were removed to Memphis. On the west bank of the Mississippi River the dead have been brought from Lake Providence, Milliken's Bend, Young's Point, and De Soto, and down the river to the place of crossing.

The interments in this cemetery are not yet completed. None but unknown, however, are now found, and after so long a lapse of time, and in a soil like that on the banks of the Mississippi, it must soon become impossible, if it is not already so, to distinguish the remains of a soldier from those of a citizen.

NEW ALBANY NATIONAL CEMETERY.

The national cemetery established at New Albany, Indiana, contains two thousand seven hundred and ninety-seven dead. Of these, one thousand three hundred and twenty-nine have been previously published in General Orders No. 20, Quartermaster General's Office, June 9, 1868, Vol. XVII of the Rolls of Honor, as being interred in the soldiers' burial lots at New Albany, Jeffersonville, and Madison, Indiana, but without designation of section or grave. Since the publication of that order the soldiers' burial lot at New Albany has been converted into a beautiful national cemetery.

The dead which had been interred in the lot have been rearranged, and those from Jeffersonville and Madison removed and reinterred with them.

To these have been added the remains of five hundred and six colored soldiers, also reported heretofore as buried in the Eastern Cemetery, Louisville, Kentucky. The remaining nine hundred and sixty-two have been gathered from the mountain regions of West Virginia, west of the Kanawha River, and from Eastern Kentucky, on the Ohio, and up the Big Sandy River; from West Point, Calhoun, Smithland, and other points on the Salt, Green, and Lower Cumberland Rivers.

This cemetery is tastefully laid out into four sections, intersected by graveled walks. A flagstaff has been erected near the entrance, and two siege-gun monuments are placed on a lawn near the centre.

At the rear of the grounds, on a slight knoll, ample space has been left for the erection of a permanent monument. At present it is occupied by a cheap wooden structure, in imitation of a monument, erected by some of the citizens of New Albany.

The cemetery is inclosed by a solid and substantial stone wall, and the interior has been tastefully adorned with evergreens and shrubbery, through the liberality of the patriotic citizens of New Albany.

FREDERICKSBURG NATIONAL CEMETERY.

The Fredericksburg National Cemetery is situated about one mile west of the city of Fredericksburg, Virginia, on the southern extremity of a prominent bluff, known as Marye's Heights. The surface of the eastern portion of the cemetery is arranged in terraces, each containing one row of graves and following the natural slope of the original surface, including about one-fourth of the area of the cemetery. The remaining portion of the cemetery is nearly level, excepting the extreme southern part, which is broken by a ravine extending some two hundred feet into the cemetery from the southern line.

The cemetery is inclosed with a picket fence, and contains several hundred shade trees, most of which were set out in 1867 and 1868, and will, in a few years, afford a very comfortable shade and improve the present rather bare appearance of the cemetery.

The superintendent's lodge is situated on the right of the entrance, on the eastern side of the cemetery. The graves have been well sodded, the roads and walks graveled, and brick drains constructed in every section and on each side of every road. The remains of fifteen thousand and sixty-eight Union dead are interred in this cemetery, comprising two thousand four hundred and sixty-seven known officers and soldiers, and twelve thousand six hundred and one unknown. The graves are marked by plain white tablets, with inscriptions in black, showing the number of each grave, and the name, rank, and corps, if known. The bodies were collected from the battle-fields of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Chancellorsville, and Fredericksburg.

The operations on this cemetery were commenced in the summer of 1866, and were completed in the fall of 1869. The total expense of construction and interments are reported as about $180,000.

A superintendent has been appointed by the Hon. Secretary of War, and is now in charge of the cemetery, under the directions of the chief quartermaster, first military district.

HAMPTON NATIONAL CEMETERY.

The Hampton National Cemetery is located about two and three-quarter miles from Fort Monroe, Virginia, in Elizabeth City County, Virginia, on main road leading from Fort Monroe to Hampton, Virginia. It comprises within its limits $11\frac{7}{10}$ acres of land, and is inclosed by a well-built picket fence.

The lodge of the superintendent is a neat building on the left side of main entrance, the right side being occupied by a frame church, erected by subscription during the war.

Gun monuments have been erected on each side of the flag-staff, and the center of the cemetery is graced by a chaste and beautiful granite monument, erected by private subscription under the direction of Miss Dorothea Dix.

The cemetery was located, and interments therein commenced, on the 27th of June, 1867, under direction of Brevet Colonel A. P. Blunt, assistant quartermaster United States Army, chief quartermaster first military district at the time. The completion of the cemetery has been directed and supervised by Brevet Lieutenant Colonel Henry W. Janes, captain and assistant quartermaster United States Army, who was placed in charge of the same on the 28th of March, 1868. On account of the sandy soil, much labor and expense have been incurred to provide the cemetery with good and substantial driveways, and over eleven thousand feet of brick gutters have been constructed.

The entire cost of the cemetery, including interments, will not fall short of $60,000.

The cemetery is very attractive in appearance, and is visited by many strangers, as well as the residents of Fort Monroe and its vicinity.

The bodies of those interred in the cemetery were removed from Big Bethel, Newport News, Norfolk, Craney Island, Deep Creek, Jamestown, Suffolk, Smithfield, Portsmouth, Blackwater, and Cherrystone, Virginia, in addition to those who died in the hospitals established around Fort Monroe.

The drainage of this cemetery is being rapidly pushed forward, and it is expected that it will be completed by the close of the current year.

The number of known soldiers interred in this cemetery is four thousand six hundred and forty-two; the number of unknown soldiers interred in this cemetery is four hundred and seventy-nine; total number of bodies, known and unknown, five thousand one hundred and twenty-one.

A superintendent has been appointed, and is now in charge of the cemetery, under the directions of the depot quartermaster, Fort Monroe, Virginia.

BEAUFORT NATIONAL CEMETERY, BEAUFORT, S. C.

This National Cemetery is beautifully situated about three-quarters of a mile from the town of Beaufort, South Carolina, and one-half mile from Beaufort River. It contains thirty-one acres of land; the ground is high and little rolling.

The construction of this cemetery was commenced in 1863 and completed in 1868. The bodies interred therein are the remains of deceased Union soldiers and employés who were originally buried at the race course and at the potter's field cemetery at Charleston, South Carolina; at Port Royal, Saint Helena, Cave Island, Otter Island, Bray's Island, Paris Island, Henry Island, Morris Island, Edisto Island, Folly Island, James Island, Sullivan Island, and Beauford Island and Hilton Head, South Carolina; points on the Savannah, Georgia, Railroad, Pocotaligo Bridge, Stony Creek, Mitchell's place, Elliot's farm, and Millen prison cemetery, Georgia.

The cemetery proper is laid out in the form of a half-circle, with graveled avenues diverging from the main entrance, and with graveled or grassed paths intersecting these avenues almost at right angles. It has also a shelled carriage-road running around the cemetery; and all of these roads have been properly graded and drained.

At the main entrance is a neat brick lodge, originally intended for the accommodation of the superintendent, but, owing to the unhealthy and malarious climate, it has become necessary to hire quarters outside for that purpose. The lodge is, therefore, used now as an office and to receive visitors. Five wells have been sunk, which furnish a full supply of water for visitors and for irrigation purposes.

The cemetery is inclosed with a picket fence, inside of which has been planted an Osage orange hedge, which is in a thriving condition. A flag-staff has been erected at the main entrance on a mound ten feet high and thirty feet in diameter at the base, from which flies, in fair weather, the national ensign. A large number of trees and shrubs have been planted, and grow well. Four cannon monuments have been erected; and everything will be done to ornament the cemetery, and to make it a suitable resting-place for the brave men who lie here. The land was purchased by the United States from the State of South Carolina, at a tax sale, for the sum of seventy-five dollars. The deed, dated February 10, 1863, was certified as valid by the Attorney General of the United States March 25, 1868.

The number of interments in this cemetery is as follows:

NATCHEZ, MISSISSIPPI.

NATCHEZ, MISSISSIPPI, NATIONAL CEMETERY.

This National Cemetery, unsurpassed in beauty by any in the country, is situated on the east side of the "Upper River Road," about one and one-half miles north of the landing at Natchez, half a mile north of the United States Marine Hospital, and two hundred yards northwest of the city cemetery. It is about one-fourth of a mile from the Mississippi River, and a hundred yards from the edge of a high bluff. The highest part of the cemetery overlooks the Mississippi in both directions. It is an irregular four-sided tract of land, containing 11.70 acres. The total length of the boundary lines is 2,667 feet.

The construction of this cemetery was not commenced till 1866, and it is being completed now, in 1871. The bodies interred therein are the remains of deceased Union soldiers, which have been brought from their original burial places at Natchez, Port Gibson, and Prio's race-track, Mississippi; and Vidalia, Concordia Parish, Waterproof, Cross Bayou Ferry, Red River Landing, and Turnbull's Island, Louisiana, and at various places opposite the mouth of Red River.

The cemetery proper is laid out in curves and irregular figures, divided by avenues and drives, and intersected by paths and walks, all of which are properly graded and drained; most of them have been planted with grass, while a few are graveled.

Inside the present picket fence a pyracanthas hedge has been planted, which is thriving well. A contract has been awarded for the building of a substantial brick wall to take the place of the picket fence. At the main entrance a neat and substantial brick lodge has been built for the accommodation of the superintendent. A pump furnishes a full supply of water for the lodge, visitors, and for irrigating purposes. In the center of the cemetery, on a large grassed mound, a flag-staff, flying the national colors, has been erected. A large number of trees and many-colored and sweet-scented plants and shrubs have been set out, and are in a good condition. Three cannon monuments add to the ornamentation of the grounds.

The land was purchased by the United States from private parties at a cost of $1,800, or $153.85 per acre, and is held by a fee-simple title.
